

The FCC, correctly, I think, spent time, money and effort dealing with CBS' superbowl "exposure of a breast."

Right now, you have an obligation to deal quickly and fairly with Sinclair's use of the public airwaves, in preparing to air a 40-minute diatribe against Senator Kerry. I have not seen the material, but I have heard the outlandish statements from at least one of those who speaks in the film. It is the worst kind of attack politics; and it is most certainly untrue, speculative at best.

The least you should demand is equal time for the Kerry Camp to show a Kerry film immediately following the one they intend to show.
THAT would be EQUAL TIME.

The FCC is our protector. It should not be political. If the public can not trust you to enforce sane rules, there's noplacel else to turn.

Thank you.
